

Dear Commissioners,

I urge you to make every effort to prevent concentration of radio, television, and print media outlets in the hands of a few companies. This country has already gone too far in allowing oligopolies in the media. Please make new rules to force firms such as Clear Channel and the Tribune Companies to divest some of their outlets.

Media concentration is causing less interesting music broadcasts and "dumbing down" of the news. It also means that in many cities NOBODY reports the doings of the media outlets themselves.

Please listen to Commissioner Copp, and follow his suggestions. If the courts pressure you, please resist, and bring the issues to the public. In turn, the public can force politicians to pass stronger anti-trust laws.

Sincerely,

A. Christopher Wilson
